El Toro Water District Receives Outstanding Community Service Award

ETWD praised for hiring employees who are dedicated to improving quality of life.

Lake Forest, CA – The Historical Society of Laguna Woods recently named El Toro Water District (ETWD) as the 2010 recipient of the Dr. Tracy E. Strevey Community Service Award.

The award recognizes ETWD's 50 years of service to the community and praises the District's commitment to provide safe, adequate and reliable supplies of water and wastewater services in an environmentally and economically responsible manner. The Historical Society also applauded ETWD's diligence to superior governance, ethical and sound operating practices and their accreditation as a District of Distinction.

"El Toro Water District has played a significant role in the development and prosperity of Laguna Woods," shares Bob Ring, president of the Society. "Without the District and their commitment to provide precious water resources, Leisure World, and therefore Laguna Woods, would not exist today."

The Dr. Tracy E. Strevey Community Service Award was established in 2000 to recognize individuals or organizations that have demonstrated an outstanding commitment to the Laguna Woods' community through direct service, influence or financial support. Dr. Strevey shared his extensive experience and talents with the community as the first president of Historical Society of Laguna Woods and the first president of the Golden Rain Foundation.

El Toro Water District joins an impressive list of award recipients, including the City of Laguna Woods, Leisure Woods Village Library, the Foundation of Laguna Woods Village, Dr. Brenda Ross, Saddleback Kiwanis Foundation, Earthquake Disaster Task Force and Virginia L. Templeton.
